

ReSource Pro Assists Autistic Children in China

Qingdao Daily Salutes ReSource Pro for Involvement in the Elim Austistic Recovery Center

“As the biggest outsourcing company in Qingdao, ReSource Pro is paying more and more attention to providing programs that benefit society.”

–The Qingdao Daily, July 7, 2009

NEW YORK, NY, July 31ST, 2009 – On Amercia’s Independence Day, July 4th, nearly twenty ReSource Pro employees visited the Elim Autistic Recovery Center in Qingdao, China, where they spent time visiting and interacting with autistic children.

The Qingdao Daily covered the event and recognized ReSource Pro for its involvement in the Qingdao’s community. Tom Quinlan, the manager of ReSource Pro’s English department, shared that this was the second time ReSource Pro’s employees voluntarily worked at Elim, looking out for the children while their parents participated in courses.

“Our employees have a great enthusiasm for these kinds of social activities. ReSource Pro will continue following the principals of community service in strengthening their relationship with social organizations like the Elim Center, and holding more volunteer activities through its Community Outreach Committee (COC)”. said Quinlan.

ReSource Pro’s Qingdao operation has formed several committees, such as the COC, that allow employees to get involved in events and activities beyond their office duties.
